

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Ian Collins and I'm a second year information science student who's interested in archives and libraries. I have extensive experience with XML, HTML, cataloging, arranging, appraising. I am also excellent with Adobe creative suite, social media, and the omni-prescent Microsoft Office. I welcome the opportunity to work with any type of collection or institution.

I'm also looking to get involved with digital libraries and find ways to use them to even the information gap between countries. Usability studies, brainstorming, organization and metadata coding and creation all play into my strengths as an information scientist.

I highly appreciate you taking the time to read this and browse through my website. I look forward to working with you to expand the horizons and influence of library science.

-Thanks again for your time
